2. How super works

Superannuation is a means of saving for retirement which is, in part, compulsory. For many people, superannuation is their main form of income when they retire. That is why it's important to have superannuation and to add to it throughout your working life so that you will have enough money to live on when you retire.

As your super is likely to be one of your biggest assets in retirement, the choices you make today could have a significant impact on your lifestyle in retirement.

In Australia, super investments receive tax concessions provided by the Government, which are not available for other types of investments. The tax concessions typically allow your super savings to grow more quickly than making similar investments outside of super, which means super is a powerful tax savings vehicle.

Contributions to Super

Your superannuation is usually built up throughout your working life by making contributions to your super fund.

Different types of contributions can be made into super, including:

- Employer Superannuation Guarantee (SG) contributions
- Voluntary contributions (before and after-tax)
- Government co-contributions
- Salary sacrificing.

You can also transfer your super to the Fund from your existing super fund.

The Government has put some restrictions on investing in super, such as limits on the amount of contributions you can make each year and limits on withdrawals so that generally people will not be able access their super benefit until they reach their 'preservation age' (usually when they retire after age 60). Most people have the right to choose into which fund their employer should direct their SG contributions.

More information about superannuation can be found on the Australian Taxation Office website at www.ato.gov.au/super or the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) at www.moneysmart.gov.au/superannuation-and-retirement

You should read the important information about Contributions and Withdrawals in the Additional Information document before making a decision. Go to www.crescentwealth.com.au/super. The material relating to Contributions and Withdrawals may change between the time you read this PDS and the day when you acquire the product.

4. Risks of super

Superannuation is an investment for your retirement. All investments carry risks and it is important to understand what these risks are. The level of risk that is acceptable to each person will depend on a range of factors, including:

- Your age;
- Your investment timeframe;
- Your investment objectives;
- Where your savings outside super are invested and the value of those investments; and
- Your risk tolerance.

This is known as your 'risk-reward profile'. Information on the risk level of the Crescent Wealth Balanced Investment Option is shown in Section 5. For all other Investment Options refer to the 'Investment Choice Guide'.

Based on information provided by Crescent Wealth, the Trustee has used a methodology that defines the level of risk based on the expected frequency of negative annual returns over any 20 year period. It is important to note that the risk level shown is not a complete assessment of all investment risks. Members should still ensure they are comfortable with the risks and potential losses associated with their chosen Investment Option.

More information can be found in the Investment Choice Guide document at www.crescentwealth.com.au/super. The material relating to investment risk may change between the time you read this PDS and the day when you acquire the product.

Super funds invest in a range of assets which are generally categorised as either 'conservative' (or defensive) or 'growth', and typically include, but are not limited to:

- Australian Shares (growth asset)
- International Shares (growth asset)
- Property & Infrastructure (growth asset)
- Cash (defensive)

Depending on the investment strategy chosen, and the assets that make up that strategy, different levels of risk may apply. For example, assets which aim for higher returns over the longterm may carry the highest level of risk in the short-term. When considering how to invest in super, it is important to understand that:

- Investment returns are not guaranteed and you may lose some of your money.
- Past performance is not an indicator of future performance.
- The value of your super investment and your returns can fluctuate depending on the Investment Option chosen and risks associated with that Investment Option.
- Investment Options may be closed or terminated at any time.
- Laws affecting your super may change and affect the return and level of risk of your investment.
- The amount of your super (including contributions and returns) may not be enough to provide adequately for your retirement.
- Usually assets with higher long term return are accompanied by greater risk in the short-term.
- The level of returns will vary, and future returns may differ from past returns.

Broadly, the risks that apply to super funds such as the Crescent Wealth Super Fund can be categorised as Investment Risks and General Risks.

Investment risk

Generally investment risk means that the value of your investment and returns may vary and that you may lose some of your money.

The Fund offers three Investment Options, each of which carry a different level of risk, depending on the assets that make up the option. As a result, the potential for your investment to increase or decrease over time and the level of returns generated will differ for each Investment Option.

Other significant investment risks in the Fund are the impacts of inflation, changes to interest rates and exchange rates, liquidity and market movement. Even though the Fund invests in accordance with Islamic investment principles, movements in interest rates in Australia and abroad can impact the value of the Fund's investments. Because the Fund invests in accordance with Islamic investment principles, your returns may differ to those you would receive if you invested in a conventional superannuation fund

General risks

General risks associated with joining the Fund include:

- Changes in superannuation legislation may have an impact on how you can invest your super, the amount or type of contributions you may make, when you may receive your benefits and other matters.
- Changes to the Fund's trust deed and the rules affecting the Personal Superannuation Division or other Fund Divisions may also affect your superannuation account

5. How we invest your money

Your money is invested in industries that are compliant to Islamic values, faith and principles. Certain social and moral considerations, which are in accordance with Islamic investment principles, are taken into account in determining the investment objectives of the underlying investments in which the Fund invests.

For example, investment in assets which may give exposure to income from gambling, adult material, alcohol or weaponry is avoided. The Trustee has outsourced the investment management of the Fund to Crescent Wealth.

Crescent Wealth has developed three Investment Options which are designed to meet the various investment needs of a broad range of investors. Each Investment Option may invest in a range of managed investment schemes for which Crescent Wealth is the responsible entity and with global and domestic investment managers.

The three Investment Options are:

- Crescent Wealth Conservative
- Crescent Wealth Balanced
- Crescent Wealth Growth

Each of the above options has a different investment objective and therefore the Investment Option that you select should closely match your appetite for risk and your intended investment timeframe. We will invest your money based on the Investment Option(s) selected. Fund members may choose one Investment Option or a mix of Investment Options from the three options. You can make a different choice for your current super balance and your future contributions, and you can switch your superannuation account balance between Investment Options at any time. If no investment choice is made, your contribution cannot be accepted.

When selecting your Investment Option(s) you must consider the likely investment return of the option.

The following table provides more detailed information about the Crescent Wealth Balanced Investment Option:

The Trustee reserves the right to close or terminate an Investment Option by refusing to accept new money into the Investment Option or forcing reallocation of its assets to another Investment Option. The Trustee may make changes to the benchmark asset allocation, investment ranges or the underlying products within an Investment Option from time to time. The Trustee will inform you as soon as practicable if this affects your nominated choice.

You should read the important information about Contributions and Withdrawals in the Additional Information document before making a decision. Go to www.crescentwealth.com.au/super. The material relating to Contributions and Withdrawals may change between the time you read this PDS and the day when you acquire the product.

6. Fees and costs

You can use Table 1 to compare this Fund with other superannuation funds. Fees and charges may be paid directly from your account, deducted from overall Fund assets or deducted from investment returns. The fees charged by the Trustee are not negotiable. Unless otherwise stated, all fees and charges set out in this section are inclusive of goods and services tax and take into account of any reduced input tax credits.

Did you know

Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long term returns.

For example, total annual fees and costs of 2% of your account balance rather than 1% could reduce your final return by up to 20% over a 30 year period (for example, reduce it from $100 000 to $80 000).

You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs.

Your or your employer, as applicable, may be able to negotiate to pay lower fees. Ask the fund or your financial adviser.

To find out more

If you would like to find out more, or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) website (www.moneysmart.gov.au) has a superannuation calculator to help you check out different fee options.

Other fees, such as activity fees, advice fees for personal advice and insurance fees, may also be charged, but these will depend on the nature of the activity, advice or insurance chosen by you. Information about taxes, insurance fees and other costs relating to insurance are set out in another part of this document. You should read all the information about fees and other costs because it is important to understand their impact on your investment.

The fees and other costs for each investment option offered by the Crescent Wealth Super Fund, are set out on page 8 of the Crescent Wealth Super Fund Additional Information Guide.

#The administration fee of $86.28 p.a. will be indexed in line with CPI each July from 2018.

For definitions of the fees and costs in the table above, please refer to the Crescent Wealth Super Fund - Additional Information Guide. This can be found on our website at www.crescentwealth.com.au

Example of annual fees and costs – Crescent Wealth Balanced Investment Option

This table gives an example of how the fees and costs for the Crescent Wealth Balanced Investment Option for this Superannuation Product affect your investment over a one year period. You should use this table to compare this Superannuation Product with other Superannuation Products.

Table 2 - Example: the Crescent Wealth Balanced Investment Option

BALANCE OF $50,000
Investment fees	0%	For every $50,000 you have in the Superannuation Product, you will be charged $0 each year
PLUS Administration fees#	$86.28 p.a. plus 0.565% p.a.	And , you will be charged $368.78 in administration fees
PLUS Indirect Cost for the Superannuation Product	1.25%	And , indirect costs of $625 each year will be deducted from your investment
EQUALS Total cost of product	If your balance was $50,000, for the year you will be charged fees of $993.78 for the Superannuation Product

Note: Additional fees may apply. And, if you leave the superannuation entity, you may be charged an exit fee of $0 and a buy/sell spread which also applies whenever you make a contribution, exit, rollover or investment switch. The buy/sell spread for exiting is 0% (this will equal to $0 for every $50,000 you withdraw).

The Fund's Trust Deed allows for some fees to be charged at higher rates and for certain other types of fees to be charged including, for example, fees under the Family Law (Superannuation) Regulations 2001. As at the date of this PDS the Trustee has determined not to charge all the fees at the rates provided in the Trust Deed. If the Trustee decides to increase the fees within the limits allowed under the Trust Deed, you will receive at least 30 days' written notice of the change. Otherwise, the Trustee cannot change the fees without Members agreement unless subject to automatic indexation.

In addition to the fees set out above, the cost of the Fund is affected in the following ways:

- Although there is no buy-sell spread built into the unit prices of the Fund, the unit prices for the underlying investments do incorporate a buy-sell spread. The buy-sell spread is an amount which is added to the buying price of units in the underlying investments and deducted from the selling price of units in the underlying investments. It is an amount designed to reflect the cost to the underlying investments of acquiring assets when a person invests, and of selling assets when a person redeems.
- While there is no performance fee charged by the Fund's Trustee, the underlying investment may become entitled to receive a performance fee where the individual investment exceeds its performance benchmark. Charging of the performance fee at the underlying investment level will affect the unit price of the relevant underlying investment and in turn the unit price of the Investment Option in the Fund. Please refer to page 5 of the Investment Choice Guide for further information on performance fees.

The Fund does not negotiate fees and does not pay fees to members' advisers. However, you may negotiate separate fee arrangements with your financial adviser.

If you consult a financial adviser, additional fees may be payable to your financial adviser. The Statement of Advice from the financial adviser will detail fees payable directly to the financial adviser.

You should read the important information about Fees and Costs applicable to your investment before making a decision. Information about fee definitions and fee structure for each Investment Option is available in the Additional Information document.

Go to www.crescentwealth.com.au/super or www.diversa.com.au/trustee to access this document. The material relating to the Fund fees and charges may change between the time you read this PDS and the day when you sign the application form or when you acquire the product.

7. How super is taxed

Super is one of the most tax-effective ways to save for your retirement. Even so, tax laws are complex and subject to change so to make the most of your super, you might like to consult an accountant or tax adviser.

Tax within super may apply to:

- Contributions;
- Investment earnings; and
- When your super is paid to you (withdrawals)

Generally, the Fund pays all tax relating to your benefit and where applicable, can deduct it from your account balance.

Contributions

Tax payable on contributions is paid out of contributions when they are received by the Fund and before they are allocated to a member's account. Contributions received by a super fund are classified as either concessional or non-concessional for tax purposes.

Concessional contributions, also known as before-tax contributions, include all contributions made from your before-tax salary, including salary sacrifice contributions and employer superannuation guarantee contributions. They are contributions for which a tax deduction has or will be claimed (usually by you or your employer). Concessional contributions are generally taxed in the Fund at 15%. However, if your annual taxable income (including superannuation contributions made by your employer on your behalf) exceeds $250,000 p.a., your concessional contributions may be taxed at the rate of 30% in respect of that part of your contribution which is referable to your income in excess of $250,000.

Non-concessional contributions, also known as after-tax contributions, are contributions made from after-tax money. They include personal and spouse contributions. They are contributions for which no tax deduction can be claimed. No tax applies to these contributions in the Fund, as it has already been paid. We cannot accept a non-concessional contribution unless we have your TFN. If a contribution is received, we will attempt to source your TFN and if unsuccessful, we will return the contribution to you in the time period specified by law.

Contribution limits

Both types of contributions are subject to annual limits (known as 'caps') as set by legislation. If these limits are exceeded, additional tax must be paid.

Exceeding the concessional cap:

If you exceed the concessional contributions caps, you will receive a notice of excess contributions tax assessment from the ATO. Excess concessional contributions made from 1 July 2013 will be included in your assessable income for the corresponding financial year and taxed at your marginal tax rate plus the Medicare levy (less a 15% offset).

This excess contribution will also be considered non-concessional and will count towards the non-concessional contributions cap for the same financial year.

Concessional contributions cap

For the 2017-18 year, the limit for concessional contributions is $25,000 for all ages, indexed annually in line with inflation.

Non-concessional contributions cap

The limit for non-concessional contributions for 2017-18 is $100,000 per annum, equal to four times the concessional contributions cap. This limit is subject to annual review. It will be indexed annually in line with inflation. However, the non-concessional contribution cap is Nil if your total superannuation balance exceeds $1.6 million.

Further, if you are aged 65 or above, you must satisfy a 'work test' in order to make after-tax contributions up to the annual limits. The work test specifies you must have been gainfully employed (either employed or self-employed) for at least 40 hours within 30 consecutive days in the financial year the contributions are made.

Exceeding the non-concessional cap:
Any contribution in excess of the non-concessional cap may be taxed at the top marginal tax rate plus the Medicare levy and any other applicable levies. This applies even if your contributions have been made across a number of funds. Contributions made from 1 July 2014 over the annual cap may be withdrawn, along with any associated earnings. The earnings will then be taxed at your marginal tax rate.

Investment Earnings

Complying superannuation funds' investment earnings are taxed at a maximum rate of 15%. The amount of tax may be less because of credits, rebates and deductions available to the Fund.

When your super is paid to you

No tax is paid on any tax-exempt component of your benefit.

Tax may be payable on the taxable component of your benefit depending on your age at the time of withdrawal:

- Under your preservation age: 20% (plus Medicare levy and any other applicable levies).
- Reached preservation age, but aged less than 60: first $200,000 tax-free and the remainder taxed at 15% (plus Medicare levy and any other applicable levies).
- Aged 60 or over and ceases an employment arrangement the withdrawal is tax-free.

Providing your tax file number (TFN)

The Trustee must request your Tax File Number (TFN) under the provisions of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993.

You should provide your TFN as part of joining the Fund.

You are not obliged to supply your TFN but, if you do, you will:

- Be entitled to concessional rates of tax on your benefit.
- Aid the smooth transfer of benefits when you roll over from one fund to another.
- Make it easier to locate or consolidate your benefits in a fund.

If you do not provide your TFN, all concessional contributions will be taxed at the highest marginal tax rate. We will also be unable to accept non-concessional contributions. Additionally, any benefit payable to you will be taxed at the highest marginal tax rate.

8. Insurance in your super

You may acquire certain insurance products through the Fund.

You should read the important information about Taxation in the Additional Information document before making a decision. Go to www.crescentwealth.com.au/super. The material relating to how super is taxed may change between the time you read this PDS and the day when you sign it.

The types of insurances you may acquire are:

- Death only.
- Death and Total & Permanent Disability.
- Income Protection.

The insurance cover available is not automatic: in order to apply for insurance cover, you must contact us on 1300 926 626.

There are costs (premiums) associated with obtaining insurance cover. The amount of the premium payable will vary depending on the type and level of cover you choose. The Trustee will pay the premium associated with your insurance cover on your behalf by deducting the premium from your account balance in the Fund. You will see the premium deductions in your Annual Statement.

You will need to ensure you have sufficient funds in your account to meet the premiums.

The Insurance Booklet which accompanies this PDS includes substantial additional information about the insurance cover available through the Fund, including information about:

- The level of insurance cover available
- The actual cost of the insurance cover
- Your eligibility to obtain insurance cover
- The conditions and exclusions which apply to the insurance cover

The matters set out in the Insurance Booklet may affect your entitlement to insurance and should be read before you decide whether the insurance cover is appropriate for you. You should read the important information about insurance in the Insurance Booklet before making a decision. Go to www.crescentwealth.com.au/super.
